The End of The Tunnel

Editorial, D.C.J.

It seems like forever. Is it possible that an end is in sight? The familiar barricades, the clouds of grit, the potholes, the running water, the piles of stone, the clang, clang, clang, the rumble and the roar have been such a part of our daily life that it will be, in the mildest term, strange to return to normal. The boys from the Bay Corp. have become familiar faces while their occupation has brought unavoidable havoc to the streets. The heavy equipment tearing at our peace will be missed but not fondly. On the other hand, certain individuals became as familiar as neighbors as they uncovered the maze beneath the surface. Those, who, with patience, withstood our cries of anguish as disaster struck and then repaired the damage, we will miss and fondly. The human grin and wave is a powerful force. You can only hate machines.

The very nature of this operation is such that you would not wish it upon your worst enemy. For business people it is a trial almost beyond endurance. Accepting these two facts and observing similar operations in other towns, we could have had a much more trying experience. Our engineering supervision has been first class. The Bay Corp. has proceeded as fast as conditions permit and have patched as soon as possible with good results to date. Much credit belongs to a combination of good planning by Selectmen and other town officials who laid out a schedule to keep streets accessible to residents at night and emergency vehicles at any time. The planning included working around the wharf area to leave it open for summer use and allow businesses on Water Street to enjoy their peak business period. Thanks to this schedule and the cooperation by the Bay Corp., the streets will be in acceptable condition by foul winter weather which is a very commendable feat. I believe that a bow is due to town officials, particularly the Mattapoisett Water Department under the supervision of Superintendent Charles Morgan for their day and night effort to keep water flowing in the mains, the Tighe & Bond engineers and the Bay Corp. for making the best of a job that would try the most tolerant soul.

complaint against the Bay Corp. He said that a customer had informed him that she had attempted to reach the Inn for lunch and had been told by sewer construction workers that the Inn was closed. He said that it was difficult enough to do business with piles of stone blocking the entrance and a giant crane blocking the driveway without this verbal discouragement to his business. He said that he felt that he was due an apology for this incident and hoped that it was not one of many. The Selectmen asked Executive Secretary Stephen Lombard to contact the Bay Corp. and relay the problem.

Opening Concert Sunday

"The Naumburg Foundation has found itself a real winner in the Empire Brass Quintet," wrote a reviewer in the New York Post. He was referring to the group that will occupy the solo spotlight Sunday afternoon at the Tri-County Music Association's opening concert of the season at Old Rochester Regional High.

The Empire Brass Quintet won the Naumburg Chamber Music Award in 1976, the same year they played for Queen Elizabeth's Bicentennial visit to Boston and later on at President Carter's inaugural celebration at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

They will be featured on the program Sunday with John Pandolfi and the Regional Symphonic Band. The concert begins at 3 P.M.

Tickets will be available at the door. Season ticket holders are urged to arrive early.

The brass quintet's repertoire ranges from baroque to contemporary. The Symphonic Band has included on its program Chuck Mangione's "Land of Make Believe", a selection from "Sampson and Delilah", and Handl's "Fireworks".

Letter to Sen. Kennedy

The following letter we print as written because of the enormous impact that the proposal for socialized medicine could have in the United States. Much thought should be given to this proposal by Senator Kennedy by every taxpayer and the following letter may serve as a catalyst.

The Honorable Edward M. Kennedy
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Kennedy:

I was one of the fortunate few who heard you speak at the Brockton VA Medical Center yesterday afternoon. Unhappily, some of your remarks frightened me and despite my strong support for your health care legislation, I am in need of reassurance.

My health service background has included clinical work in state and federal hospitals and considerable involvement with the "Action for Mental Health" movement so strongly stimulated by your brother Jack. My experience has provided a general overview of how health care systems operate and has raised at least one serious concern.

The concern rears its head whenever people mention "high level medical care" yet go on to define it as what the best medical facilities do. Having worked within medical facilities, I realize that opinions differ as to what might be defined as "high level medical care" and would like to illustrate my position with a factual incident.

Several years ago, a close friend of mine was attending one of the best medical schools in New England. As a fourth-year medical student, he was assigned to do admission examinations in a large medical center. He was instructed to include in his physical examination a complete review of body systems for each patient seeking admission. One day, a New England farmer appeared and asked that a troublesome bunion be removed. He was in his sixties and was receiving Social Security benefits. He denied ever having been physically ill, had never been hospitalized and indicated that he didn't "cotton much to doctors". He admitted to difficulty walking because of the painful bunion and had been informed that the expense of correcting this condition would be handled by Medicare. During the review of systems conducted by my medical student friend, it was discovered that the man had several other physical problems, none of which were giving him much pain or discomfort. My recall of the exact nature of these additional problems is hazy and what they were is irrelevant to the issue I would like to raise. Suffice it to say, the net result of this "quality" admission procedure resulted in at least two additional operations, one of which left the man unable to walk. After several months, the man was discharged from the medical center in a wheelchair as an almost total care person.

This case is not provided as dramatic evidence of medical bungling. Rather, it illustrates what can and does happen in any system where wisdom is replaced by an emphasis on every person receiving the most thorough and best medical care. One might argue that any surgeon who just removed the bunion and sent the man home without examining how his entire body was functioning was guilty of malpractice. However, my strong belief in the importance of "quality of life" would support such a surgeon's decision. In the case mentioned, the two additional operations were not crisis ones and the old man was literally "sold on the need for them". This raises the whole question of ethics in treatment and the responsibility of the medical profession to be cautious about what should be treated.

I would support your contention that "quality primary care" should be made available to all individuals at each socioeconomic level in our society. Nevertheless, I would personally draw the line at providing "high level medical care" if this means attending to all of the physical or emotional ailments presented by individuals who present themselves to a medical center. Some of my acquaintances have raised the question of whether our society can even afford to provide such care. To me, cutting defense or space exploration spending to provide funding for health care begs the ethical issue. I believe that the concept of health care has to be injected thoroughly with wisdom about which particular health problems need attention coupled with a thorough recognition of the intimate relationship between the emotional life of a person and his physical pain and discomfort. Under our present system, there is the danger of trying to make an average body into a perfect body. It would seem prudent to consider the analogy that no one really needs a new automobile in perfect condition. With a good engine, chassis, tires, and brakes, a car can be quite serviceable despite its dented fender, cracked window or missing

Could you reassure me that in devising your legislative proposals you have thoughtfully considered the dangers inherent in providing too much care rather than "quality primary care" for major health problems. The New England farmer described earlier might be out gathering potatoes today if the surgeon had merely removed his bunion.

Sincerely yours,

DAVID S. GOODENOUGH, Ph.D.

P.S. One gentleman raised the question at yesterday's meeting as to whether psychologists were included as health care providers in your proposed legislation. It seems fairly well documented that psychologists have demonstrated their clinical competence as health care providers over many years and should certainly be included in any broad program of health care legislation. From my experience, psychologists often bring to the health field a critical evaluative attitude which has led to the development of creative, humanistic, and relevent treatment programs.

HALLOWEEN WALK

On Saturday night, October 28th, the Museum Outdoors in North Dartmouth will repeat the fun and excitement of last year's Halloween Walk. As a special children's celebration of Halloween, the walk will be open to children 10 years old and under and all children are invited to come in costume. The evening will be well superivsed and parents are welcome to walk with their children. The walks will proceed through the mysterious night woods where various ghastly characters may be hiding. Other activities for the evening will include a Haunted House, a cider press, apple bobbing, refreshments and John Brown's Body. The events begin at 7:00 P.M. and there will be repeated narrated walks all evening so that all may be accommodated. Parking will be at the rear of the Museum off Longview Drive. The public is asked not to bring flashlights. Donations of cookies, brownies and cider, which will be on sale, and apples for pressing and bobbing would be greatly appreciated. MacLean FOR THE NEW DISTRICT . . .

Pursuant to a constitutional amendment approved by the voters in 1974, the Massachusetts House of Representatives will be reduced in January from 240 members to 160 members. The towns of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester have been joined into one district with the towns of Fairhaven and Acushnet. William Q. "Biff" MacLean is the most qualified individual to represent such an expanded district.

A veteran of 18 years in the legislature, Biff has come to know the intracacies of state government. Biff has always believed that he should be available to all the people in the Greater New Bedford area. His legislative record involving tax relief, state funds for education, environmental safeguards and senior citizens' benefits has had a positive effect not only in Fairhaven and Acushnet, but on the entire Greater New Bedford community. Biff would now like the opportunity to work on behalf of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester.

Join those who already know and support Biff.

Help re-elect Biff your state representative. Vote Biff MacLean.

For the benefit of Mattapoisett, Marion and Rochester, Biff intervened with the Governor and the Massachusetts DPW to hasten the completion of routes 195 and 240.

Not only does Biff have the experience, but he has lived in our district all his life. He listens to problems and needs of our area and he has the ability to translate those needs into viable legislation for the benefit of his communities.

Now that the district has been expanded to include Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester, it is even more important that this area have strong representation in Boston. That is why you should support "Biff". He will support you!

Help re-elect Biff MacLean.

FIELD WALK

The Saturday morning field walk on October 28th is on Fruits and Trees. We can easily interpret all the signs of nature in this season, as it remarkably prepares for another winter. All are invited to come for a morning walk and learn how seeds from all the area trees survive the winter and wait for the next spring. The walk is free and leaves the Museum Outdoors at 10:00 A.M. and is open to all ages.

SATURDAY PROGRAM

Mrs. Kathleen Roberts, a teacher from the Raynham Schools, will be featured for a Children's Museum Saturday program on local Indians on October 28th. Mrs. Roberts, who has written a book on the history of area Wampanoags that was illustrated by Dartmouth School children, will give an informative talk for children's understanding of the population of the local Wampanoags, where they lived, what their life styles were like and their dealings with the first colonists. The program is open to all those interested in this fascinating aspect of early Dartmouth history. The talk will be geared toward ages 6 and older. The program, for which there is a small charge for non-members, begins at 2:00 P.M. in Russells Mills.

Mattapoisett Seniors

Mr. David Alves, Director of Coastline Elderly Services, will be the speaker following Thursday's meeting of the Mattapoisett Seniors' Club. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity to learn of the many programs available to them under Coastline. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

Officers of the club will be installed at the November 9th meeting. Following the installation there will be a pot luck luncheon. Members are asked to bring main dishes and vegetables. Salad and dessert will be furnished. Please call Jane Welch at 758-2435 if you plan to attend and let

Art Center

"HOOT!", FOLK CONCERT

Traditional folk music, sea chanties and some contemporary tunes will be featured at the Marion Art Center's "Hoot!", a folk concert, on Saturday, November 11th, at 8:15 P.M.

Well-known ballad singer Barbara Carns will return to the stage bringing her own special talents with husky voice and lusty songs of the sea. Also performing in the concert are Cam Fordyce, Larry Brown, Mimsy O'Neal and Susie Brown. This foursome has entertained locally, individually and as a group. Their selections range from "Fast Freight" to "Plaisir d'Amour".

Rounding out the program are two newcomers to the Marion Art Center stage: Alain Gowing and Gil Anderson. Both are experienced musicians, and their sophisticated strumming and guitar picking attest to years of practice. "Dueling guitars" adds a note of humor, and their other songs range from Beatles to James Taylor.

Seating will be cabaret style, the atmosphere will be informal; cider, wine and beer will be served. Reserve your table now as space is limited. Call the Center (748-1266) or Wendy Bidstrup (748-1035).

CONSORTIUM AWARDS GRANT FOR AREA ALCOHOL/DRUG EDUCATION PROGRAM

Drug and alcohol abuse is a problem in New Bedford area schools just as it is in schools in other parts of the nation. The New Bedford Consortium, the area's CETA Agency, is trying to do something about it.

The Consortium has awarded a $63,767 grant to the Marion Center for Human Services to run an alcohol and drug education program in four area school systems. Project PLUS (Prevention-Learning-Unity Support) will be implemented in kindergarten through grade 12 in Marion, Mattapoisett, Rochester and Wareham.

plan and carry out the ten-month program. Their wages will be paid through CETA, the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act. Ninety per cent of the grant is set aside for wages.

Development of the project has been approved by school officials in Marion, Mattapoisett, Rochester and Wareham.

Project PLUS will provide education and primary prevention in the area of alcohol and drug use among youth.

Education programs will be designed for specific age levels. Children in kindergarten through grade 3 will learn about matters such as poisonous plants, medicine cabinet contents and tobacco. Grades 4 and 5 will concentrate on awareness of drugs and alcohol. More in-depth study of the topic will take place in grades 6 and 7.

Junior and senior high school students will be given courses in alcohol-drug history, uses, attitudes and abuse. A key part of the instruction will be a scientific appraisal of drug and alcohol interaction and the effect these substances have on behavior.

Project PLUS will also train teachers, school personnel and parents to identify users and abusers of drugs or alcohol. Counseling will be given to young persons with drug or alcohol problems.

Approximately 6,272 students are enrolled in the four school systems to be served by Project PLUS.

The project is tentatively scheduled to begin October 30.

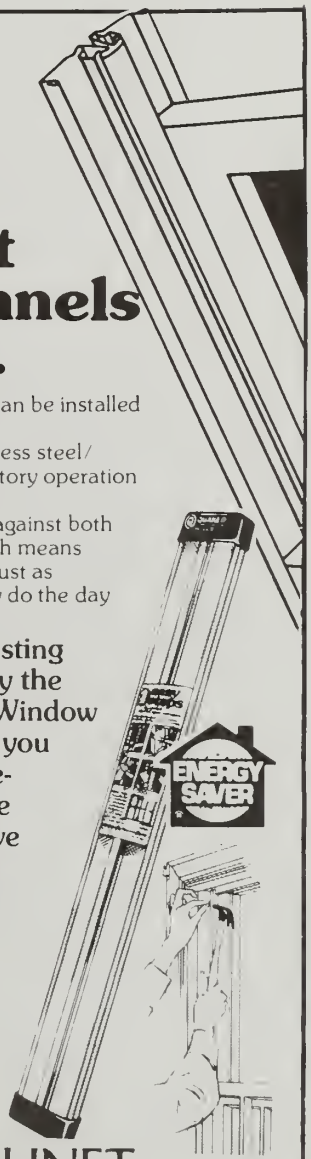
Loose windows are a waste.

QUAKER®

Replacement window channels are a groove.



- It's the only compression system that can be installed without any special skills.
- An ingenious holding device and stainless steel/aluminum construction assure satisfactory operation for the life of the windows.
- Its gentle spring-pressured resistance against both the inner and outer portions of the sash means your windows will move up and down just as smoothly in ten or twenty years as they do the day of installation.

We don't believe in wasting time. Or energy. That's why the sooner you use QUAKER Window ..Repair Kits, the better off you will be. QUAKER® Replacement Window Channels are the effective way to conserve precious energy. Seals out dust, dirt, weather...locks in air conditioning and heat. They're easier to install than a new window and at a fraction of the cost!

Quaker Channels fit standard 1⅜" wood sash.
